Syria Breaks Away From the Egypt Alliance

By WEBB MCKINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syria reasserted its independence today after less than four years as a region of the United Arab Republic and set up a new civilian government supported by rebel army officers.
President Gamal Abdel Nasser
of the U.A.R. bowed to the revolutionary command which led the pre-dawn uprising Thursday.
He announced that he had recalled troops, planes and warships sent to crush the revolt, and indicated he would leave to the Syrians the task of working out their future.
"The regime of tyranny has gone forever," said Damascus broadcasts proclaiming independence from Cairo, accusing Nasser of turning Syria into a prison and disputing his claim to Arab leadership.
Speaking to a crowd of 100,000 in Cairo, Nasser said the entire Egyptian navy, air force and two army regiments were sent to Syria but were recalled to avoid bloodshed when the rebels took over Latakia, Syria's chief port.

Fuss Develops on California Political Scene

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Gov. Godwin J. Knight says a wealthy Republican friend of Richard M. Nixon's offered him
"any job in the state of California"—if he withdrew from the 1962 gubernatorial race.
Knight said Thursday the unidentified emissary told him he could become California's "chief justice or anything else you want, if you won't run against Dick."
Nixon denied a virtually identical charge—by State Democratic Chairman William A. Munnell—at his Wednesday night news conference, when Nixon announced his candidate for governor. The former vice president was unavailable Thursday night for comment on Knight's accusation, but Robert Finch, campaign manager in Nixon's unsuccessful 1960 bid for the presidency, said of the report:
"That's totally preposterous.
There's never been any discussion of any such thing."
Then Knight reaffirmed his accusation, claiming he had two witnesses to the alleged conversation with the go-between. He added:
"At the proper time, if this story is denied again, I'll make their names public."
Knight said the alleged emissary is "a high ranking Republican financial leader of Los Angeles—not a party official—and one of Nixon's closest friends. He's been a supporter of mine in the past."
Knight gave no indication if or when he would disclose the man's identity.
He told this story:
"On Aug. 1, a man called me to set up a meeting with Nixon."
"On Aug. 7 I did meet with Nixon at which time he referred to the man who had arranged the meeting and said, 'I will communicate with you always in this way.' Nixon said, in substance,
'We don't want any publicity that we are meeting.'"
"On Sept. 7 this same man called me from Los Angeles while I was at the El Dorado Hotel in Sacramento. He had been calling all over the state to find me."
"He said, 'Dick's going to run.'
I had two witnesses in the room and I had them bend an ear to the phone so they could hear the conversation."
"I said, 'All right.' The man said, 'He has asked if you will meet with him and Bob Finch...'
"He said, 'Dick is willing to offer you chief justice of the state supreme court or anything else you want if you won't run against Dick.' I said I was going to run."
Knight said he has kept telephone records and can prove such a call was made to him.

Congolese Troops Are Gathering

By COLIN FROST

ELIZABETHVILLE, Katanga,
the Congo (AP)—United Nations authorities confirmed today that troops of the Congolese central government are massing near the Katanga border but said they so far have not crossed.
Conor Cruise O'Brien, U.N. special representative, said "a large number" of troops had been moved by commercial airliner into Luluabourg, Kasai Province, and heavy material is being brought up by river.
"We are aware of these movements," O'Brien told a news conference, "but it is not a matter for the United Nations to interfere with movements of the central government troops within its borders."
O'Brien said the United Nations insists as a matter of urgency on the removal of more than 100 European military and parliamentary personnel assisting the army and police of Katanga's President Moise Tshombe.

Poll Tax Deadline This Weekend

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sunday is the deadline for paying the state poll tax and officials indicated today a record number of poll tax receipts may be issued.
The state auditor's office said 665,400 poll tax blanks have been issued to the state's 75 counties.
Only two counties—Faulkner and Mississippi—have asked for more blanks than they were originally issued.
Mississippi County asked for an additional 3,600 and Faulkner County asked 900 more.
The record for poll tax sales in Arkansas was set last year when 603,795 receipts were issued.

New Device Launches a Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—
A Polaris missile testing a revolutionary thrust control system for the first time was launched successfully today.
The new device was on the second stage of the submarine rocket, which was fired from a land pad.
The Navy, without giving details, described it as an "advanced device being evaluated for possible use in the third generation A3 Polaris." An announcement said this was the first time such a system had been tried.
The A3 missile will have a 2,800-mile range, compared with the 1,300-mile maximum range of the A1 missile now deployed on five Polaris submarines. An A2 rocket with range of 1,725 miles is well along in its test program here and is expected to be fired for the first time from a submarine next month.
The launching followed by several hours the seventh straight successful launching of a Titan intercontinental range missile.

Dimes Mean New Medical Care Program

The January 1962 New March
Of Dimes will support a bold new medical care program bringing expert care for birth defects and arthritis victims to the community level, Mrs. Lura Impson, Chairman of the Hemptstead County Chapter, said today after returning from a National Pro-Campaign Conference of 250 volunteer leaders of The National Foundation at Fort Worth, Tex.
Basil O'Connor, President of The National Foundation, and Dr. W. R. White, Chancellor of Baylor University, in Dallas, were the featured speakers at the two day meeting.
Mrs. Impson said that the slogan for the January drive is "Your Dimes Will Do It Again."
"We are not content to rest on our laurels," she said. "Birth defects account for significant abnormalities in one out of every 16 babies born. Arthritis cripples nearly one-third of a million Americans so severely they cannot work or function normally. Victims of these crippling need the kind of help March of Dimes volunteers know how to provide."
Volunteers attending the Fort Worth campaign planning meeting were particularly enthusiastic about the National Foundation's March of Dimes expanding program of medical care for those disabled by the target diseases, she reported.
"As chapters of the National Foundation give their financial support to a rapidly growing network of treatment centers across the country, we will help bring diagnostic facilities and expert medical care to America's doorsteps," Mrs. Impson said.
A Birth Defects Special Treatment Center is now in process of being set up at the U of A Medical Center, Little Rock. Each county contributes to this center.
Details will be announced, Mrs.
Impson said.

Indicted Negro Now in Cuba

YORK, Pa. (AP)—The York
Gazette & Daily said today that Robert F. Williams, a Negro who disappeared after being indicted in the kidnapping of a white couple in North Carolina during a racial disturbance, is in Cuba.
The newspaper said the information was cable to it by William Worth, an American newspaperman. Worth, a Negro, was the center of a controversy for visiting Red China in 1956 despite a United States ban on travel there.
The cable said in part: "Robert F. Williams is safe in Cuba. I know because I ran into him today as he was leaving the Ministry of Foreign Affairs."
The cable indicated Williams made the trip by some underground route.
Williams, 36, a resident of Monroe, N.C., is a militant integrationist who had said he was stockpiling weapons in "an armament race with the white people of Monroe."

U.S. May Help Russia Build Atom Plant

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that the United States and the Soviet Union are discussing plans to join forces in building the world's biggest nuclear accelerator — to produce the fantastic power of 500 to 1,000 billion electrovolts.
Glenn T. Seaborg, chief U.S. delegate to the conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency here, said the Russians in private talks with American scientists have indicated their interest in cooperating.
Nuclear accelerators are atom-smashers needed to determine hitherto unknown structural parts of the atom's core.
The United States last month inaugurated the biggest existing accelerator in the Brookhaven, Long Island, N.Y., laboratories, one producing 30 billion electrovolts. The biggest Soviet accelerator produces 10 bev.
Seaborg told newsmen the two countries also are seeking to cooperate in other fields of peaceful use of the atom, such as radioactive waste disposal methods and common research on fast reactors. This cooperation comes under a 1959 agreement concluded between the then AEC chairman, John McCone, and his Soviet counterpart, Prof. Vasily Emelyanov.

Legal Notice

FINAL REPORT OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY GRAND JURY TO HON. LYLE BROWN, CIRCUIT JUDGE:

The Grand Jury for the April, 1961, term of the Hempstead Circuit Court, approaching the expiration of its six months' term of office, and having completed its deliberations, beg leave herewith to file its final report.

We have worked many working days during the past six months, both through special committees and through meetings of the Grand Jury as a whole and we have heretofore filed indictments and made other interim reports to the Court, which are self-explanatory. We are not returning any additional indictments on this date. We submit herewith the following recommendations:

1. We recommend that all monies due the county from individual citizens for work performed by the county be paid directly to the county treasurer, a proper record made thereof and the appropriate receipt issued.

2. We recommend that competitive bids be taken on any major purchase of supplies and equipment being purchased for the use and benefit of the county and with tax money. And specifically do we recommend that purchases of printing supplies in excess of $100.00 be handled exclusively by the County Court and that such purchases be awarded through competitive bidding.

COUNTY PROPERTY

Our Committee on County Property inspected all known county property excluding the county hospital. It is their finding that a better system of inventory should be established with reference to office furniture and equipment. For example, the office furniture is not properly classified; furniture is moved at random from one office to another and without authority; office equipment is not listed by make, model, size or serial number. Unserviceable and damaged property is stored in various rooms throughout the courthouse. Many of these items could be rehabilitated.

As to the county shop equipment, there has never been a business-like method, insofar as our committee can determine, of keeping track of all such personal property which the county owns. We feel that the lack of proper record keeping has throughout the years cost the county a substantial amount of money. In order to correct this situation, our committee makes the following recommendations:

1. That a permanent record be maintained of all county property.

2. That a locator file be maintained revealing the location of county property, such as department, office, bridge crew, etc.

3. That an individual from each department, office or crew be designated as responsible for such property.

4. That operators of trucks and equipment be required to perform maintenance inspections at designated intervals, and report deficiencies to the county mechanic.

5. That property considered worn out, be inspected by responsible persons, and if considered uneconomically repairable should be disposed of in accordance with the law.

6. County property sold or disposed of should be dropped from the property records. This should be supported by a Certificate.

7. Equipment listed as Truck with Trailer, should be carried as separate items. Such as "Truck Tractor," and "Trailer dump 10 yd. cap".

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Our Committee feels that the Sheriff's Department is operating as efficiently as possible with the personnel available to them. They are to be commended for the services they perform for the benefit of our smaller areas in rural Hempstead County. Our Committee has received various reports about the liquor traffic in Hempstead County. But insofar as the Sheriff's responsibility is concerned, we feel that his office is doing the best possible job in keeping this traffic to a minimum.

The foregoing "Final Report of Hempstead County Grand Jury" is recorded in my office and is published herewith at the direction of the Presiding Judge of the Hempstead Circuit Court.

Jamie Russell, Clerk
Sept. 29, 1961.

COUNTY OFFICES

The entire panel of the Grand Jury served on this Committee. We have visited all the county offices and have called in the head of each county office to better acquaint ourselves with the functions of each of these offices. In checking past procedures we found that tax monies were not always handled by some county officials as in the manner required by law. In fact, the failure to live up to these legal procedures formed the basis for some indictments by this Grand Jury. We think as a result of our investigation these irregular procedures have now been corrected and we urge that all county officials having anything to do with the public funds of the county follow the letter of the law in receiving and disbursing such funds. We also recommend that a permanent record be kept by the County Clerk of all work done on private property by the County Judge and that when such work is done the charge made therefor be forthwith paid in either cash or by bankable note.

The Grand Jury recommends that a study be made by our Legislators and/or by a citizens' committee of the duties, work load and needs of the County Constitutional offices in order to recommend to the General Assembly in 1963 any changes, modifications, etc., of the number of deputies and their salaries authorized by State law; and that the law be amended to require that deputies who are employed on fees or salaries be full time employees for the period paid for (except the jailer) unless otherwise provided by law.

The Grand Jury recommends that since the County pays one-half the expenses of the Municipal Court of Hope, Arkansas, that the law be amended to make the election of the Municipal Judge countywide.

The Grand Jury recommends that our State Representative and State Senator have the law amended to include Hempstead County within the provisions of Section 17-417, Ark. Statutes, and not continued to be excepted from the statute requiring the County Judge to keep his expenditures within the appropriations of the Quorum Court.

The Grand Jury moves that the County Judge direct the Prosecuting Attorney to write the debtors to the county to begin paying indebtedness within 60 days from this date, or suit will be filed for collection.

The Grand Jury wishes to take this opportunity to express its thanks to the Citizens Committee and to Mr. James H. Pilkinton for their services to the panel and to the citizenry of Hempstead County.

The Grand Jury recommends that some 70 election boxes be repaired.

We understand that under existing law the County Judge is not required to make bond. We would recommend that the law be changed to require that County Judges execute bond to indemnify the county for any funds which they might misappropriate or cause to be misappropriated. This recommendation is not intended as any reflection on the present County Judge.

With the submission of this Final Report at this time, we beg leave to be dismissed.

The Board of Directors of Hempstead Co. School District No. 3 of Hempstead County, Arkansas, in compliance with the requirements of Act 403 of 1951 and of Amendment 40 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, have prepared, approved, and hereby make public the proposed budget of expenditures together with the tax rate as follows:

General Control, $450; Instruction, $43,000; Operation of School Buildings, $2,655; Maintenance of School Plant and Equipment, $850; Auxiliary Agencies (including transportation), $8,500; Fixed Charges, $2,061; Capital Outlay, $1,200; Debt Service, $1,800.

To provide for the foregoing proposed budget of expenditures the Board of Directors proposes a tax levy of 34 mills. This tax levy includes the present continuing levy for the retirement of present indebtedness.

Appeals for Flood Control Projects

MEMPHIS (AP) — Pleas for federal aid for flood control or drainage projects were made Wednesday at a public hearing held by the Mississippi River Commission.

Graham Burke of Helena, Ark., lawyer for the White River Levee District, asked the commission backing in obtaining a federal appropriation next year for installing equipment for a pumping station.

Burke said the project would require about $2.5 million. He said a $22,000 contract was recently awarded for building the pumps.

"Our area is surrounded by levees," he added. "High water last spring resulted in flood gates on Little Island Bayou being closed from March 10 to April 1 and from May 8 to June 26."

"Out of a total of 150,000 acres (in Phillips and Desha counties), approximately 45,000 acres were flooded and surface drainage was impaired on an additional 20,000 acres."

Making First Big Money of Career

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rock Hudson is making the first big money of his career—but he does not want to talk about it.

Rock hit paydirt with the first film for his own company, "Come September." A sexy, saucy comedy laced with striking Italian scenery, including Gina Lollobrigida, it has been the No. 1 box office film in the United States for four weeks.

The movie has been outdrawing Rock's previous smash, "Pillow Talk"—domestic gross alone: $7.5 million. Because of the foreign angles, including Gina, it is figured to have a greater potential abroad.

I figured Rock would want to talk about his new role as boy tycoon, Nope. He sent word that he couldn't take credit for "Come September's" success; other guys were responsible.

I went to see him anyway. "Money?" he said. "I haven't seen any of it. And I won't for a long, long time. Besides, it's not all mine."

The reason for the latter is a peculiar line among the film credits: "A Seven Picture-Round Walsh Enterprises production. Seven Pictures is the name of Rocks firm. But Walsh had nothing to do with the film. So what is he doing in there?"

"At the start of my career," Walsh put me in a picture at Warner Brothers called Fighter Squadron, the actor explained. "Warners wanted no part of me, so Walsh put me under contract. As insurance, he put in a clause that I would do my first independent film with his company."

Fourteen years later, Rock finally made his break—though he still releases through Universal and makes some films there as a salaried actor. When Rock announced his own company, Walsh sued for a million. Rather than go to court, Rock cut the veteran director in on "Come September."

Because Rock has never pushed his weight around, he is not, like some of his contemporaries, a millionaire. But come a few more septembers, he will be.

Supremacy Problem to Families

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: We have a baby boy 19 months old. My husband's brother has a baby girl 14 months old. Whenever we visit the brother's home my sister-in-law brags from the time we arrive until we leave about their little girl.

She coaxes her to do all sorts of cute antics for us such as dancing up and down to music, blowing kisses and shaking hands. The show goes on with no chance for us to love or compliment her.

If we mention our baby's name, we are interrupted with some story about their little girl. When we finally depart I'm riled, ruffled and disgusted. I accuse myself of being jealous. I feel our baby is a well-trained person in his own right. He feeds himself, smiles readily, jabsbers sociably, has curly golden hair and is every bit as interesting as his little cousin.

I decided that it is not jealousy but rejection which riles me. How can I shed this animosity and deal squarely with the problem? Should I join in the spirit of competition?—Confused Mother

Dear Confused Mother: Boastful people are insecure. A certain amount of competition is healthy but for a family to brag is childish.

Your in-laws do more harm than good to their little girl by encouraging her to show off. It will go hard with her later. I'm all for children being part of the party, provided they keep quiet. As a child, I was always dressed in my best, presented to guests and allowed to linger so long as I listened, instead of talked.

Under the rules of hospitality, visitors, not I, had the center of the stage. This is where your sister-in-law failed in training her little girl. But that's her business, not yours. Smile, keep your own counsel and avoid comparisons. They are odious.

Dear Helen: A few weeks ago, while my parents were away for the day, three boys with bad reputations came to my home uninvited. When they discovered I was alone they walked in and took over. Since I am only 14 and come from a good family I fear to tell my parents, as it would disgrace our name. Please print this so that other girls who may have had the same awful experience may also be helped. What should I do?—Frightened

Dear Frightened: Tell your parents at once. By so doing you may save other girls from a similar experience. I hope you got the boys' names and addresses, or at least a description of them. The local authorities should be contacted immediately. Ask that there be no publicity, but have your parents make sure that the boys are punished.

Dear Helen: My oldest brother has fought with me ever since we were kids—I'm now 14 and he's 13. Today, he started hitting my 2-year-old baby brother. If I hit back I'm the one who gets jumped on. I'm treated like a baby, not a grownup, by everybody but Dad. But I get grown-up chores to do, like keeping house. What should I

Western accommodation to Communist authority in East Germany.

Khrushchev long has demanded that the Western powers recognize the East German Communist regime. The implications of what Kennedy said stop far short of full recognition, but the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany have talked over privately the possibility of accepting the fact of Red rule in East Germany.

Kennedy said he believed an agreement could be worked out that would protect "the freedom of West Berlin and Allied presence and access."

This comes close to the crux of the matter because Khrushchev clearly wants Allied troops withdrawn. But he also has talked a great deal about guaranteeing West Berlin as a "free city" and also guaranteeing access. The gap between his position and Kennedy's could be a subject of negotiation, diplomats say, though he would have to accept the presence of Western troops.

Sonic Booms

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Rock Air Force Base said a sonic boom may be expected in the Little Rock area about 10:43 p.m. today. It said a B-58 bomber flying from Fort Worth, Tex., to St. Louis via Little Rock would create the boom.

Hendrix Trying for Replacement

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Olen Hendrix, chairman of the State Hospital board, said today he was trying to reach Dr. George W. Jackson for a definite statement on the hospital superintendent's job.

The board wants Jackson, 47, to return to the Arkansas hospital, where he was formerly superintendent, to resume the top job. In addition to the customary duties, he would supervise a construction program now getting under way.

Hendrix said he was trying for Jackson at Topeka, Kan., where the physician now is Kansas director of institutions. Jackson had been in New York but was scheduled to return to Topeka Wednesday night.

Under the board plan, Supt. Granville Jones, who is 61, would be shifted to a less demanding position. Dr. Jones suffered a heart attack last year.

Dug Him Up to Lock Him Up

MEMPHIS (AP)—Police had Digger O'Dell dug out of his "grave" today so they could lock him up.

Lt. K. A. Turner said Digger, legally known as Herbert Odell Smith, was waked on an Atlanta warrant charging non-support of his wife.

Smith is a pale 46-year-old who makes a living being buried in a special coffin that includes an airshaft, electric lights and a telephone.

Finding him was easy. He had been planted in front of an auto dealer's establishment for 12 days, aiming for 60.

Diplomatic Luncheon Is 4 Hours

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—What is a diplomatic luncheon like in the cold war?

It is four hours long. It is half small talk, half big talk and half of the second half is taken up with translation.

The food is good, the wine is chilled to perfection and everyone is well-mannered and polite. The tone of their conversation never reflects the fact that both countries involved have rockets with nuclear warheads aimed at each other.

Nobody at a cold-war diplomatic luncheon loses his temper. Nobody raises his voice. Nobody even implies the other man may be a liar although nobody assumes he isn't.

It was that way Wednesday when Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, played host to Dean Rusk, U.S. secretary of state, in their continuing talks on the Berlin crisis. Each man had six aides and an interpreter with him.

The scene was the brick home of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, on Park Avenue and 68th street, a neighborhood best known for capitalists and psychoanalysts.

Promptly at one, Rusk and the other Americans began to arrive, also in black Cadillacs. Adlai E. Stevenson had some trouble getting in since the Soviet attendants had just slammed the door on photographers and were not immediately convinced this was the U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

Inside, the Americans were led up a broad circular staircase to a reception room.

There was time for one drink, the favorites being orange juice, vodka and cordials, separately. Clonning for cameramen, Gromyko held up three fingers toward Stevenson, symbolizing the Soviets' troika plan for the U.N.

"Three of a kind are only good in a poker game," said Stevenson. "Then how about three vodkas?" said Gromyko.

"I'll take one," said Stevenson. In diplomatic luncheon circles, this is considered bouffant humor.

Gromyko led his guests into a high-ceilinged dining room, where the silverware and china sparkled but the landscape oil paintings on the walls had an inspirational quality usually seen only in chain hotels.

The participants were seated around a round table, places for 14, each including four glasses for water, vodka, white wine, red wine and cognac. For openers the diplomats ate smoked salmon, black caviar, tomatoes and cucumbers.

The fish course was "yellow pike, Polish style." The meat was chopped steak, tasty but decidedly more proletarian than the Cornish hen served last week to the Soviets by Rusk. Dessert was strawberries and cream, then coffee and liqueurs.

For more than an hour, the diplomats ate, sipped and made small talk about their home towns, their common experiences in Europe, the weather, noncontroversial aspects of the U.N. and professional baseball.

But once the chit-chat ended and they got down to serious business—Berlin—each side reverted to its own language and used interpreters so that their meanings could be precisely understood.

The business end of the meeting began after liqueurs when Gromyko rose and led his guests back to the reception room.

Rusk and Gromyko did most of the talking. They addressed each other as "Mr. Minister" and "Mr. Secretary." Nobody here used first names.

They talked almost two hours, half of this taken up by translation. They talked seriously and took no side tracks into idle diversion or humor. It was com-

Fashion and 4-H Are Winning Combination

WHETHER it's back to school or back to work, a last minute search for clothes will not hamper 4-H girls who have just completed their 1961 dress revue project. They'll be attired in clothes of their own making.

Three lovely examples of what the modern girl can do with fabric, pattern, needle and thread are pictured here in prize-winning ensembles. They have counterparts in every state.

Patricia Clickener

All set to cheer the home team on to victory is Patricia Clickener who showed off her colorful sports outfit at the Illinois state fair.

Ready for the first chilly fall day is Marovene Byrd, one of the successful North Carolina contestants in the state 4-H dress revue. She made both the coat and dress.

The white chiffon dance frock worn by Georgia co-ed, Claudia Stenbridge, is doubly enchanting when she dons the gold satin evening coat she is carrying. Dress revue entrants are judged on personality, poise and grooming as well as sewing skills. Results achieved by this pretty trio are not uncommon among the more advanced 4-H members.

Beginners learn to sew from the age of 10, and they are likely to exhibit aprons, shirred skirts or simple blouses at local revues.

Joy of accomplishment seems reward enough, but there are some extra special rewards and recognition for the most outstanding girls. These are provided by the Simplicity Pattern Company of New York, which has sponsored the 4-H dress revue program for 15 years.

A gay anniversary fashion event will be held during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the last week in November, when 4-H'ers from all 50 states and Puerto Rico will model their best costumes.

Claudia Stenbridge

The national dress revue is an undertaking involving the Cooperative Extension Service, National 4-H Service Committee and Simplicity. More than 1800 delegates and leaders will be in the audience.

Says Subversion Truth Withheld

FIOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas real estate men were told today that some persons advocate measures which would keep Americans "from knowing the real truth and danger to our country from internal subversion."

Speaking at the 37th annual convention of the Arkansas Real Estate Association, John W. Mayo of Dallas urged study of governmental reports on communism and support of organizations and leaders who "advocate freedom for America through private enterprise, strong internal security and national patriotism opposing world government appeasement or surrender."

Mayo, a colonel in the Arkansas National Guard during World War II, did not mention any names of persons he said have "aided the communist conspiracy by preaching against the private enterprise system."

He numbered among these persons "certain members of Congress, certain university professors and many bishops and preachers."

Foreign Language on the Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Education Commissioner Arch Ford said today that Arkansas schools are showing increased interest in stepping up foreign language programs under the National Defense Education Act.

"Our reports are not complete, but we can tell applications for language programs are running far ahead of last year," Ford said. Interest in mathematics also has increased, Ford said.

The federal government pays 50 per cent the cost of initiating or expanding public school programs in language, math and science.

Government money goes to pay for facilities and teaching aids. The teacher's salary is paid by the local school district. No state money is involved.

Ford said that in Arkansas the federal government had spent about $225,000 and the local districts a like amount last year.

Finnegan was already edging away. Two Utes grabbed him. "It offends the spirit of the river to leap off this bridge with clothes on," the Chief ruled. "Strip them."

Three virgin white sacrifices stood surrounded by brown and brawny Utes. Finnegan started to dive in but Little John and Horsecollar seized him. By arms and ankles they swung him three times and let him soar.

"Oh, spirit of the river, here comes another one," the Chief said.

And there went Stalcup. He and Finnegan stood on the north bank and watched the Utes tackle Goodykontz. It turned out to be a chore. Three Indians propitiated the river spirit before anyone even got a good grip on Goody.

They got Goodykontz at last in a laughing, grunting struggle, but he took the Chief and Little John with him.

Stalcup and Finnegan were hoisting themselves up at the north end of the bridge when they heard the car coming. They started to drop back and then they recognized Holzapfel's car.

"It's like this," Holzapfel said. "Last night Mrs. Snoddy called the Pueblo papers with a bunch of lies about all the bloodshed the Indians caused in the park. She laid it on so thick the night editor wouldn't swallow the story, so he called me. We're old friends, you know."

"Undoubtedly that editor had never bought a used car from Holzapfel, Finnegan thought. Holzapfel began to read.

Seven people were treated for minor injuries at the Wonderful hospital last night as an aftermath of what one local sponsor of a celebration termed "a to enthusiastic participation in the program."

Edward T. Holzapfel, chairman of the Wonderful chamber of commerce committee which sponsored the event, explained scuffles and arguments broke out among spectators when they became carried away with a re-enactment of a Mulligan county election.

Utes from the Southern reservation were taking part in the program. Two of them, Johnny Pinkwater and Hawley Whitehorse, were slightly injured while attempting to quit the spectators.

The Chief was reading the paper. "How did Pinkwater and Whitehorse become Indians?" Holzapfel waved his hand. "You know how mistakes creep in when you're giving dope on the phone. Who knows the difference?"

"Pinkwater and Whitehorse," the Chief said.

Marcia Stalcup's Scaper nosed quietly around a corner of the willows, bearing half of the state officers of the BPOG. The other half were in the car immediately behind the first.

"Ecceyow!" cried Horsecollar and let the rush of Utes who stood not on the order of their going as they departed into the river.

Stalcup and Finnegan were caught barefooted right up to their eyeballs.

Frank Fay Fay Leaves a Legend

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—His old-time pals are burying Frank Fay today, but they won't forget the Pagliacci legend he left behind.

Fay was a curious figure. He was one of the great comedians of his time, a droll man whose knack for making himself and others unhappy. He was constantly in and out of debt, and he alienated large numbers of friends and fellow workers by his slashing remarks.

Along with his comic genius, Fay (real name: Donner) had a way with an audience has never been surpassed. Many of today's top comics borrowed liberally from his technique, especially Jack Benny.

No one knows what caused this dark side of his nature. Whether a cause or effect, intimates say that his longtime torch for Barbara Stanwyck helped make his latter years miserable.

"Frank carried a torch for her for 26 years, right up until he died," said Charlie Fay, who visited Fay four days before his death Monday night.

"He was always saying: 'She'll be back; she'll be knocking on my door,'" said Bryan Fay, another member of the famed theatrical family.

Fay was sent to St. John's hospital, where he died six weeks later of a ruptured blood vessel. During his final days, unable to comprehend what was going on around him, he could not take the telephone call that came from Barbara Stanwyck.

Proclamation

For National Business Women's Week

WHEREAS women in business and the professions have made outstanding contributions to the economy of their community, state and nation, and

WHEREAS these women have given tirelessly of their time and efforts to civic and cultural projects and

WHEREAS this woman power is a great "Dimension in Democracy," now THEREFORE, I, Frank Douglas, as Mayor of the City of Hope, Ark., by the authority vested in me, do hereby proclaim Oct. 1 through 7, 1961 as National Business Women's Week

In Hope, Ark., and call upon all citizens to recognize the achievements of members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc., who provide daily service to our country.

The Arkansas State Capitol was moved to Hot Springs in May 1862, for a time when the Federal forces approached Little Rock.

Fay married Miss Stanwyck in 1928, when he was a top comedian and she had just scored her first success in the play "Burlesque."

They both came to Hollywood in the talkie period. Then it was the old story of her career booming while his went downhill.

"Barbara did everything she could to make the marriage work," a friend remarked. "She joined the Catholic Church, she adopted a boy. But when she came home from a hard day's work at the studio, she'd find him drunk, sitting around the dinner table with a bunch of old vaudeville pals."

The end came in 1935 when she divorced him after testifying that he slugged her on learning she had attended a burlesque show.

The divorce sobered Fay. It is said that he never drank afterward. Religion became an obsession.

Fay's success in "Harvey" didn't rid him of the phantoms that haunted his life. Inactive in the last few years, he moved further from reality. Living in New York (this summer, he got on a train to Chicago with dog and no luggage. He was found wandering aimlessly in the Chicago station with no knowledge of how he got there. He was put on the train back to New York and friends sent him to his California home.

The first thing he did was go to Barbara's room, which remained the way she left it 26 years before. The housekeeper's daughter was there and he talked to her as if she were Barbara.

Fay was sent to St. John's hospital, where he died six weeks later of a ruptured blood vessel. During his final days, unable to comprehend what was going on around him, he could not take the telephone call that came from Barbara Stanwyck.

Determined to Make Tulsa First Victim

FAYETTEVILLE Ark. (AP) — Arkansas and Tulsa have solid whippings to alone for Saturday when they meet here in the Razorbacks' home opener before an expected crowd of 25,000.

Arkansas went down 16-0 before Mississippi last week and Tulsa took a 48-12 drubbing from Memphis State. Tulsa won its opener two weeks ago, 27-0, over Hardin-Simmons.

Both teams have injuries at key positions. Art Neece, Tulsa's starting right halfback, is out for the season with a knee injury. Billy Moore, Arkansas, alternate quarterback, also is out with a less serious knee injury.

More probably will be able to see action in next week's Southwest Conference opener with Texas Christian in Little Rock.

Mickey Cissell, third team fullback and the team's leading scorer as a place-kicker last year, has a knee ailment and won't play against Tulsa. That will leave the kicking chores to sophomore end Jim Grizzle.

Arkansas is intent on stopping the passing game of Tulsa quarterback Ronnie Sine, a product of Fort Smith, Ark., High School. He passed for two touchdowns against Memphis State last week.

Arkansas holds a 21-12-14 edge in the 38-year series. The Hogs will depend on the halfback slants of Lance Alworth and Paul Dudley and on George McKinney's quarterbacking savvy in an attempt to get into gear the offense that didn't click against Ole Miss.

McKinney will probably play all the offense, as he did (except for two plays) against Mississippi. Moore is out and reserve quarterback Tommy Fowler has a broken finger on his right hand, with which he handles the ball.

Another quarterback, sophomore Fred Marshall, is being held out in hopes of preserving a year of eligibility for him. However, he will be used if necessary.

Arkansas has worked hard on blocking, tackling and running this week and is generally a two-to-three touchdown favorite over the Hurricane.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said halfback Darrell Wiggins and end Tim Langston, two others on the injury list, will be able to play against Tulsa. He also indicated there was a possibility that Moore would get in on a few plays.

This was considered unlikely, however, with the league opener only a week away and Moore's knee still a bit shaky.

Arkansas' line, which leaked badly in the Mississippi game, will get another formidable test. Tulsa will outweigh the Hogs 11 pounds per man on the forward wall.

Maris Has a Chance at 61 Tonight

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Home run No. 61 is the target tonight as Roger Maris starts in pursuit of the circuit shot that will make him the only player in major league history to hit more homers in one season than Babe Ruth.

Maris has only the three-game set starting tonight at Yankee Stadium against the Boston Red Sox in which to hit No. 61 and surpass the total of 60 committed by the Bambino in 1927 when he established baseball's most revered record.

Maris, of course, cannot break the Babe's record according to the ruling of Commissioner Ford Frick, who set a 154-decision limit on tying or breaking Ruth's 34-year-old mark, and he'll be playing without homer-hitting partner Mickey Mantle.

Mantle, who has hit 54 homers, was hospitalized Thursday with a hip infection and will miss the final games of the American League's expanded schedule. He is, however, expected to be ready for the opening of the World Series against the Cincinnati Reds next Wednesday.

Neither Mantle nor Maris, who took a day off Wednesday when the Yankees played Baltimore, worked out Thursday as the AL champs used the open date for a hitting drill and an opportunity to discuss their Series opponents.

Maris hit No. 60 against Jack Fisher Tuesday night, then provoked comment by sitting it out against the Orioles Wednesday because he was "bushed."

On Thursday's light program, the Los Angeles Dodgers, clinched second place in the National League as Don Drysdale six-hit Philadelphia 10-0, and third-place San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 7-4. In the American League, Cleveland bopped Minnesota 12-5 and Los Angeles drubbed Washington 13-4.

Drysdale (13-10), beating the Phils for the sixth consecutive time, gained his third shutout of

THE DAY BABE BELTED NO. 60—Lou Gehrig, next up, was first to congratulate a beaming Babe Ruth when he established the seasonal major league home run record at 60 by belting a Tom Zachary pitch half way up the right field bleachers at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 30, 1927. The balboy was next to extend his hand. The Washington catcher was Bennie Tate, the umpire Bill Dineen. Note that players were not yet wearing numbers.

Hope Star SPORTS

Oct. Jinx Overtakes Mr. Mantle

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The October jinx has overtaken Mickey Mantle early this year.

With a history of ailments and injuries besetting him at World Series time, the fleet New York Yankee slugger who, with teammate Roger Maris, has given new meaning to the initials M&M, today is in Lenox Hill Hospital, the victim of an abscess in the region above the right hip. He'll play no more during the regular season. He probably will be ready for the World Series.

The star centerfielder had been ailing with a virus for 10 days. With the development of the abscess he was ordered into the hospital Thursday, where Dr. Sydney S. Gaynor, the club physician, excised and packed the infected area.

Gaynor said Thursday night hospitalization of two or three days might be expected, and there was no chance of Mantle playing out the remainder of the regular season, which ends Sunday.

The current misfortune is strictly in keeping with Mantle's luck. As far back as 1951, his first year in the majors, he suffered a right knee injury when he stepped into a drain connection in right centerfield during the second series games with the Giants. He spent the rest of the series in a hospital, and subsequently underwent an operation to repair the damage.

He missed four games of the 1955 series which the Brooklyn Dodgers because a flareup of chronic osteomyelitis from which he had suffered since incurring a leg injury in high school football in his native Oklahoma. Osteomyelitis is a disease of the bones.

This year Mantle and Maris staged a prolonged, friendly home run rivalry which created an almost feverish interest among the fans as both sluggers appeared to have an excellent chance to equal or better Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs during a 154-decision season, set in 1927.

The hospitalization means Mantle ends the regular season with 54 home runs.

Maris hit 59 homers in the 154 games and eventually made it 60. The Yankees—with Maris shooting for No. 61—open their final three-game series with Boston at Yankee Stadium tonight, with afternoon games Saturday and Sunday.

Teachers SS Vote 2 to 1

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas public school teachers apparently have voted 2 to 1 for a federal Social Security to their retirement program.

State Treasurer L. A. Clayton said an unofficial vote count from the teachers' special election showed 8,873 voted for the proposal and 4,613 voted against it.

He said the vote would be re-tabulated and final figures would be presented to the governor later this week.

Only a majority is needed for passage. Clayton said 15,472 teachers were eligible to vote but 1,586 did not.

Some districts have already begun taking the Social Security payments out of the teachers' checks.

The teachers are to contribute 8 per cent of their annual salary to the combined state Teacher Retirement System and Social Security program.

The state is to pay 5 per cent and local school districts are to pay 3 per cent—a total of 8 per cent, matching the teachers' contributions.

Suit Against DeWitt Board

DE WITT, Ark. (AP) — An amended complaint, adding three new counts, has been filed in a taxpayers' suit against the De Witt School District board and Supt. Harold Bradenton.

The suit, originally filed May 10, asks that a series of alleged transactions involving school affairs be set aside as illegal and for an injunction against future similar acts.

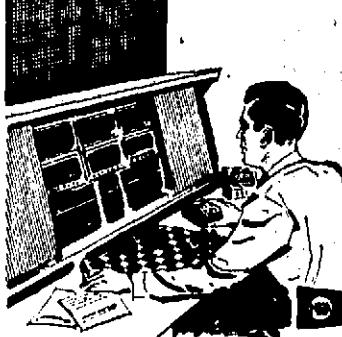

The case is to be heard in Chancery Court on Oct. 25.

The amendments allege the board bought a tract of land on May 11, 1960 without an impartial appraisal and bought gas for heating for three years without competitive bidding. The third allegation is that Bradenton, with the board's consent, removed a building from school property to his own property.

He ends the regular season with 54 home runs.

Maris hit 59 homers in the 154 games and eventually made it 60. The Yankees—with Maris shooting for No. 61—open their final three-game series with Boston at Yankee Stadium tonight, with afternoon games Saturday and Sunday.

Penn State's Nittany Lions battle the Miami Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl tonight in a slambang opener to a full weekend of college football.

In Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, Southern California will try and right itself from a 27-7 beating by Georgia Tech last week when it plays Southern Methodist.

These two games, plus Virginia Military's encounter in the Southern Conference against Richmond and Detroit's battle with Xavier (Ohio) are the only games to-night before a big schedule on Saturday, during which the nation's top-ranked team, Iowa, will get its 1961 baptism of fire along with a few other untested powerhouses.

When Iowa trots out its team under new Coach Jerry Burns, against California (0-1), it will be much like the one that had a 9-1 record last year and was co-champion of the Big Ten with Minnesota. The Hawkeyes have eight starters back including its first team backfield, led by quarterback Wilburn Hollis.

Ohio State, ranked third in The Associated Press weekly poll, also opens its season, but must face a surprising Texas Christian club that upset Kansas last week. The Buckeyes once more have their "three yards and a cloud of dust" offense, headed by All-American back Bob Ferguson.

Michigan State (No. 10), another Big Ten power, opens against Wisconsin (1-0), pitting its big line and running attack against the passing of Ron Miller.

All the other top-ranked teams have been in action. Mississippi, ranked second, opens defense of its Southeastern Conference title against Kentucky (0-1) while Alabama, ranked fourth, battles Tulane (0-1).

Syracuse (No. 5) is at home to West Virginia, loser of its last 17 games while UCLA (No. 9) is a three point choice over a strong Michigan team. Texas, ranked sixth, has a Southwest Conference tilt against Texas Tech (0-1) and Rice (No. 7) moves over to Atlanta to play strong Georgia Tech in the South's big game of the day.

Oklahoma and Notre Dame, both on the comeback trail after poor 1960 seasons, open at South Bend and may be seen on television (ABC-TV 2:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time). Rutgers is at Princeton to celebrate the 92nd birthday of college football and last year's 1-2 teams, Minnesota and Missouri, square off in Minneapolis.

Competition Developed a New Trend

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—States and Communities floating bond issues and the dealers who act as intermediaries for the public are sizing up a new competitive trend.

It could mean substantial savings for the borrowing communities and a livelier investors market for the tax exempts.

For the third time in six weeks outsiders have won over insiders in bidding for large issues of bonds. And in the first two instances it was a young David taking on a veritable Goliath.

Considering all the schools that communities would like to build, all the public works that states would like to finance, the increased competition between the little guys and the big guys on Wall Street is attracting plenty of attention.

This week's example is the $100 million State of Illinois bonds for educational institutions and mental health and public welfare programs. It was won by a group of dealers and bankers that Wall Street dubs insurgents. The losing bidders were the traditional group by Chicago banks that would normally be expected to walk away with the bidding. The last time that Illinois went to the bond market, for $85 million in 1949, the Chicago group won the issue on a single bid.

The insurgent group was headed by Glorie, Forgan & Co. The annual net interest cost to Illinois will be 2.975 per cent. The Chicago bank group's bid would have cost the state 3.014,994 per cent a year.

The two previous instances were more dramatic because they involved a relatively small municipal bond dealing firm of William S. Morris & Co., pitted against powerful syndicates headed by the nation's largest bank, the West Coast's Bank of America.

Aug. 16, Morris surprised bond market followers by taking a $100 million State of California school bond issue away from the giant, which traditionally had handled such offerings. Sept. 13, Morris repeated by winning the $100-million issue of State of California veterans' bonds.

Norris was helped in both instances by California regulations that require a good-faith deposit of only $100,000. In the Illinois bond issue the required deposit was $2 million. Morris was one of the dealers in a syndicate headed by Glorie, Forgan that won the Illinois issue.

If Morris had been acting under New York Stock Exchange rules, instead of those of California, his capital margin in both instances would have had to be $3 million. Under National Association of Securities Dealers regulations the margin on that size issue would have had to be $5 million.

But what really interests bond dealers is the rise of outside, and smaller, bidders for tax-exempt offerings.

Some dealers think that home-forth the groups may be smaller, with each participant taking a larger share of the bonds to pass on to the ultimate investor.

UPENDED—Al Roist, Cubs' centerfielder, lives up to his name as he heists Dodger second baseman Maurie Wills in an attempt to steal second in Chicago. Wills made the tag.

ALL HOLLYWOOD—With the rash of biblical spectacles being filmed in and around Rome, the sight of a soldier in ancient Rome garb is pretty ordinary. But when he emerges from an armored car, brandishing a sword, historical sequence goes askew. Actually, two films are being made in this locale simultaneously: "Barrabas," a story set in the time of Christ, and "The Two Enemies," a World War II tale.

State Still Has Six Districts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—It's a bit confusing, perhaps, but Arkansas still has six congressional districts. It won't be cut down to four officially until January, 1963.

The second redistricting law, passed by the recent special session, bears an emergency clause. That made it effective when Gov. Orval E. Faubus signed it.

However, there's a saving section. It says the reduction is contingent on a determination by Congress that the state is entitled to only four members of the U.S. House of Representatives rather than the present six.

Congress made such a finding but made the change effective with start of the 88th Congress in January, 1963.

6 p.m. Mrs. Hampton, president, The Music Department of Rising Star Baptist Church will sponsor an Evening of Music at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 1. Guest soloist for the occasion will be J. N. Cornelius Sr., of Texarkana. Rev. M. S. Riley, pastor.

Beginning Wednesday night on Oct. 4 the Silverstone Gospel Singers of Texarkana will present a program closing the 2nd Sunday afternoon at Bethel AME Church sponsored by the Stewards Board.

Coming and Going
Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph McFadden and family motored from Ft. Knox, Ky. to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin McFadden before leaving for his new station in Germany. They were joined here by his sister Miss Mattie McFadden. Sgt. McFadden was scheduled to leave Wednesday.

Mrs. Maude Virgil and daughter of Emmet and Mrs. Azula Pugh of Chicago were Sunday night guests of Mrs. Lethia Lawson of Emmet.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McGill, Mrs. Curtis Turner and children Brenda and Deziree, Mrs. J. B. Carter of Oakland, Calif. Mrs. Bessie Smith, J. Bostic and Brenda Bostic all of Hope were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Littleton Phillips recently.

Funeral Date Changed
Funeral services for Mrs. Myra Hubbard will be held Saturday, Sept. 30 at 2:30 p.m. instead of Sunday, Oct. 1 as announced.

Moral Point Involved in Raid Shelters

By JULES LOM
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If the H-bombs start falling and unsheltered citizens begin scurrying for a safe place to hide, at what point does a moral man slam the hatch of his own family fallout shelter?

With reports of shelter owners mounting machine guns, stocking tear gas grenades and taking other dire precautions against the haves-nots, the problem has become a conversation topic around the land.

The Rev. L. C. McHugh, S. J., associate editor of "America" magazine and former ethics teacher at Georgetown University, gives the discussion a thorough airing in the current issue of the Jesuit journal.

Father McHugh sees the threat of an overcrowded shelter merely as a new application of a problem moral theologians have argued on for years: "What kind of activity is permissible when one's life is under attack?" His broad conclusion is that a man has a moral right, even a duty, to repel his neighbors by whatever force is necessary if he honestly feels admitting them would jeopardize his own or his family's survival.

Not all churchmen agree. "The Gospel makes two emphases, both of which have pertinence," said The Rev. Dr. Ben Herberster, president of the United Church of Christ.

"Jesus commanded every follower to have compassion on his neighbor. He also gave us the parable of the 10 virgins, which teaches that a man ought to make his own preparations, that he shouldn't presume on the compassion of others."

"To decide when compassion leaves off and presumption begins is the inherent right and responsibility of every Christian. Perhaps if in doubt, a Christian ought to err on the side of compassion."

Father McHugh agrees circumstances would dictate the type of action permissible, but he says, "violence to defend life and its equivalent goods (such as sufficient food and air) is justifiable when certain conditions are met."

These summarized, he said, are that the violence must be a last resort to repel an attack which has actually begun against a person's undoubted rights, provided he uses no more violence than is needed, though this may include killing the assailant.

If an attack should come, he says, the fallout shelter "is likely to be the one material good in your family's environment which is equivalent to life itself."

MARKING TIME—Actress Elizabeth Taylor strolls the streets of Capri, while vacationing before filming of the much-delayed "Cleopatra," in Italy and Egypt.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—President Nasser declared today he had dispatched Egyptian naval units to quell the Syrian revolt, but then called the ships back to Egypt.

In a radio speech in Cairo, monitored in Beirut, Nasser said that at the time he ordered the ships to Syria he also sent two paratroop units to the northern port of Latakia.

Damascus radio claimed earlier the paratroops had been wiped out. In his speech Nasser said he had ordered them to surrender.

By WEBB MCKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syrian army rebels set up a civilian government today, claiming they had wiped out an invading force of Egyptian paratroops and in an apparent break with the United Arab Republic declared, "the regime of tyranny has gone forever."

Damascus Radio, held by the insurgents, accused U.A.R. President Nasser of making Syria "a big prison and a home for humiliation and terrorism."

"We do not oppose Arab unity," the radio said. "We dispute your claim to Arab leadership."

The broadcast added: "Your belief in Arabism has only one aim—to subordinate all Arabs in your empire."

Spelling out the aims of the revolt, the rebel broadcast said: "The Syrian army wants to restore to the Syrian people their freedom of speech and assembly, and to bring back their freedom which you choked off with your secret police and intelligence agents."

The rebel military officers said they had named Dr. Mahmoud Kuzbari, veteran cabinet minister before Syria merged with Egypt, to form the U.A.R. to head a civilian government as premier.

Kuzbari, 47, rose to political power as a supporter of former rabid, authorities said

Dr. Ellis said the incidents occurred in the same area in which an outbreak of rabies began and spread across the state three or four years ago.
